Cluster 17 METHODOLOGY

Study conducted online using the CAWI method with a sample of 10,572 people across nine EU countries: France (1,319), Italy (1,257), Spain (1,539), Germany (1,407), Belgium (1,000), the Netherlands (1,020), Poland (1,003), Romania (1,014), and Denmark (1,013).

The samples are representative of the populations surveyed and are drawn up according to the quota method, based on age, gender, socio-professional category, size of municipality and region of residence.

Online self-administered questionnaires. Interviews conducted between 11 and 14 March.

Cluster17's identity is scientific rigour. Founded by academics and opinion specialists, we are committed to producing quality data. Cluster17 is the result of several years' research and development work, which has led to the creation of a high-performance survey tool and an innovative analysis method tested on tens of thousands of people throughout France. This approach is based on an unprecedented segmentation of European societies into homogenous groups : the Clusters.

On the strength of this work, Cluster17 has been on the podium of the best pollsters at every election since its creation in 2022.
